For News Of Morrisville
Yardley
Makefield
See Page 36

The Levittown Times

Delaware Valley's Great Home Newspaper

Weather
Rain today, ending by mid-afternoon. Fair and cold tonight. Tomorrow, partly cloudy, followed by much colder tomorrow night and Saturday.

VOL. 11, No. 53 | Member ABC | LEVITTOWN, PA., THURSDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 12, 1963 | 66 PAGES | PRICE TEN CENTS

MOTHER, 3 CHILDREN DIE IN TRENTON FIRE

Dad Hurt In Try At Rescue

TRENTON (UPI) — A mother and three children were burned to death and the father was injured seriously early today when fire swept their two story brick home.

The father's fall from a second floor window while trying to rescue his family was broken by a woman neighbor who saw him dangling from the window. She deliberately ran under him so that he fell on her instead of a concrete sidewalk. She escaped injury.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Clara Burnat, 31, and her children, Michael, 7, Joseph, 3, and Darlene, 1. The father, Michael, 37, was taken to Helen Fuld Hospital with severe body burns and cuts of both legs.

The woman neighbor, Mrs. Genevieve Hogg, 31, said she awoke shortly before 1 a.m. and smelled smoke. She aroused her husband, John, 36, who went through the house but found no fire. Mrs. Hogg said the smoke became stronger and her husband went outside and saw flames in the Burnat home at 97 Mechanics Ave.

Hogg hurled an ash tray through the glass in the front door of the house but he was met by a curtain of flames and smoke when he tried to enter.

His wife looked up at the second floor and saw the front bedroom window smashed and Burnat hanging from it. She ran under the window and broke Burnat's fall.

Det. Carl Worob said Burnat was in a dazed condition but managed to say that he fell asleep with a lighted cigaret on the living room sofa. He said he awoke to find the house in flames and went upstairs to try to rescue his wife and children.

Worob said Burnat apparently aroused his two sons in the rear bedroom and led them to the front room where his wife and baby were sleeping. The detective said the father apparently kicked out the window, cutting both legs severely, before he fell.

Winter Wonderland

This was the picturesque winter wonderland scene early this morning beneath a light blanket of snow in Grundy Park on Jefferson Ave., Bristol. (Courier-Times Photo by Ron Brown).

Cornwells Boy Drowns

It Won't Be The Same Without Mike

By PAUL ALTAIRE
Courier-Times Writer

Christmas music floated softly — and sadly — across the living room at the home of Michael and Ruth Graziosa in Cornwells Heights last night.

Five hours earlier — the body of their son, Michael Jr. was discovered beneath the surface of the water in a neighbor's swimming pool. Michael would have been three years old in February.

"My wife doesn't want me to turn the radio off," the boy's father explained, as he looked over to the chair where his wife sat, stunned — unbelieving.

Stares At Photo

Her eyes were swollen and she sat motionless as she kept staring at a picture of their boy and their one-year-old daughter, Debbie, sitting on the lap of Santa Claus — a picture taken only last Friday.

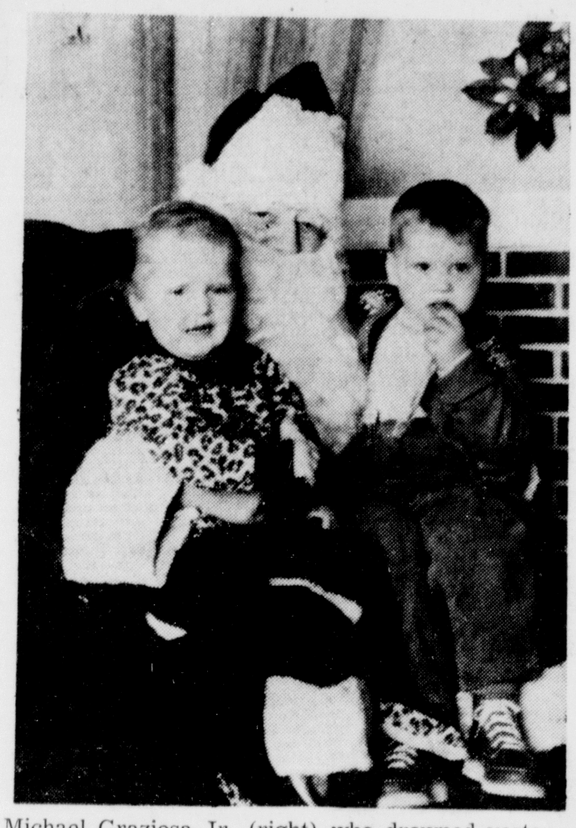
Then she looked up at her husband for a moment as though trying to say something. But Mrs. Graziosa's lips couldn't move.

Yet in her eyes you could almost read her toughts as she clutched the picture tightly in her hands:

"It's going to be a sad Christmas for us — a very sad Christmas," her eyes seemed to say.

Found In Pool

Michael's body was found in the pool of a neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lewis of 2800 Murray Ave., across the street from the Graziosa home at 2849.



Michael Graziosa Jr. (right) who drowned yesterday in neighbor's swimming pool, sits on the lap of Santa Claus with his one-year-old sister, Debbie. This picture was taken just last Friday.

Another neighbor, William Heller, 21, of 3041 Century Lane, found Michael's body after he helped search for the boy when Mrs. Graziosa became concerned about his disappear-

Continued on Page 3, Col. 1

Good Evening!

S.O. Batting For G.G.G.

There it was: a snowfall.

What's really needed about this shopping time is a windfall. However, the snow made driving difficult this morning but according to reports from around us things could have been worse.

Frank Sinatra Jr. not telling much about the details of his kidnaping.

The FBI has instructed the youth to say nothing for now about the actual kidnaping. The FBI isn't talking either. In fact the agency isn't even talking to the Los Angeles police. The federals haven't let the locals in on the case at all.

Now that the crooks are $240,000 richer they must be caught at once before they can spend the money. If they get away with this it's bound to encourage others to pull this worst type of crime.

The FCC is investigating whether there are too many commercials on TV and what can be done about it.

The broadcasters are trying to convince the commission that there aren't and if there are then they can do their own policing.

Any viewer can tell the commission that there are many times as many as seven straight commercials during program changes. Some stations have more commercials than programs.

The Senate stopped for six hours yesterday and eulogized President Kennedy.

Maybe a better tribute would have been to pass some of the bills he felt were necessary for the country.

Congress seems to be a great big unworkable giant that might need a management firm to come in and do a little streamlining.

A diet is something that takes the starch out of you.

The reason so many married men leave home is they don't like to be left alone.

Be careful.

$1,887 Still Needed

Give-A-Christmas Gets Boost Of $74

Goal	$2,500
Given Today	74
Given To Date	613
Still Needed	1,887

Kappa Beta Epsilom of Bishop Egan High School; Auto Boys of Bristol and the workers in the cafeteria at Neshaminy Senior High School have joined the list of contributors to the Levittown Kiwanis Club, Courier-Times sponsored Give-A-Christmas drive.

Kappa Beta contributed $10, Auto Boys, $25 and the cafeteria help, $10.

Other Gifts

Also joining the list today were Charles and Catherine Duddy, 52 Ash Ave., Landreth Manor, Bristol, $10; Pamela Lynn Ward, age six, 906 Walnut St., Hulmeville, $1; Holly Wolf, $5; "21 Friends," $10; Vincent Lattanzi, 1021 Broad St., Bristol, $1; and "Winkie," $2.

Donators on the list are saying to the needy in the area, "Merry Christmas." And they have made the total of the 10th annual drive climb to $613 with $1,887 still needed.

You Can Join

To join the list send contributions to Give-A-Christmas, Courier - Times, Levittown.

Today's contributions:

Kappa Beta	$10
Auto Boys	25
Neshaminy cafeteria help	10
Charles, Catherine Duddy	10
Pamela Lynn Ward	1
Holly Wolf	5
21 Friends	10
Vincent Lattanzi	1
Winkie	2

Supplement Today

A 20-page Mill St. Businessmen's Association supplement is included in today's Courier-Times.

Southampton Cave-In Kills Father Of 6

A Warminster father of six was killed yesterday afternoon when the walls of a 7-foot sewer trench caved-in on top of him while he was inspecting his work.

Robert H. Rogers, 33, of 7 Adams St., Lacey Park, Warminster, had just finished digging a ditch in front of the home at 181 Beechwood Ave., Southampton, with a back hoe — a mechanized machine used for excavating — when the accident happened.

He was pronounced dead at the scene by Assistant Bucks County Coroner Gomer T. Williams Jr., at approximately 3:15 p.m.

Walls Crumble

Rogers was employed by the Harding Brothers Plumbing Contractors, Southampton.

The accident occurred at

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Other Jobs Offered

U.S. Closing 33 Military Bases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara today announced the closing of 33 military installations with a reduction of 16,300 in personnel. He said the saving would be $106 million a year.

McNamara promised that all civilians losing jobs will be offered new ones and estimated that nearly 80 per cent will remain on the payroll.

He said he expects a net reduction of 7,800 military personnel and 8,500 civilian employes in the widespread closings affecting 14 states and three foreign countries.

The Pentagon chief told a news conference there will be further reductions. He said some will be in the government's 11 naval shipyards but he discounted reports that these reductions will necessarily be in the San Francisco, Boston and Philadelphia yards.

Reports that the Boston, Philadelphia and San Francisco shipyards would be closed brought a storm of congressional wrath Wednesday and delegations from the three affected states later reported they had been assured the bases would not be closed. Indications were, however, that the assurances were only tempoary.

Among the largest installations to be closed are Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago (being moved to Ft. Sheridan, Ill.); the Army depots at Rome, N.Y., Ft. Worth, Tex., and Schenectady, N.Y.; the naval repair shipyard at San Diego, Calif.; Stead AFB, Nev., and Camp Chaffee, Ark., and Camp Leroy Johnson, La.

McNamara's written announcement referred to closings and reductions of bases.

In answer to questions, how-

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Tate To Talk On Shipyard

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mayor James H. J. Tate hoped to confer in Washington today with President Johnson about reports that the Navy plans to close the shipyard here.

Tate, who is scheduled to go to Washington today to testify on a different matter before Senate subcommittee on public works, said he would seek a meeting with the President to discuss a report by Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass. Wednesday that the Navy has recommended the closing of the shipyards at Boston, San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Tate said Wednesay the closing of the shipyard here, which employes approximately 9,000 would jeopardize "the city's entire economy" and impose an "exorbitant and unfair burden on its taxpayers." He labeled any plan to close the yard here as "false economy."

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., sent a telegram to President Johnson Wednesday night urging the Chief Executive's reconsideration of any decision to close the Philadelphia Naval shipyard."

Scott called any closing on the yard here "a tragic loss to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and the nation."

Bucks Gets Snow, Then Rain, Slush

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

(See other picture, Page 33)

The first snow of winter blanketed Bucks County with 1.6 inches before turning to rain shortly before noon today.

The snow, which began falling about 3 a.m., turned fields and woodlands into a winter wonderland and made highways nightmares of ice and slush.

Highway salt and sand crews were sent into action early this morning throughout the county shortly after the snow started to fall.

Turns To Ice

But the show compacted and turned to ice during the morning rush hours, slowing traffic down to a snail's pace. Despite hazardous driving conditions, conditions, only minor mishaps were reported by area police.

In Upper Southampton two motorists were injured when their cars collided at Bustleton Pike and Chiquepin road as a result of the slippery roads.

The drivers are Robert Dickie, 35, of Hollicong, Pa. and Edith

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Pennsbury Students Interview Rockwell:

'Smooth Talker But Ideas Revolting'

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

What is Americanism? What is loyalty in a democratic state?

Many of the 40 Pennsbury High School honors students who visited Washington yesterday had pat answers to those two difficult questions prior to their trip — but they came away with more open minds and a host of ideas for future discussion, debate and thought.

According to the sponsor of the somewhat controversial trip, Richard Knippel, a more open approach to ideas was one objective he was striving for.

Visit Nazi Headquarters

The controversial aspect of the trip was a visit to American Nazi party headquarters in Arlington, Va. Three Pennsbury Joint School Board directors opposed that part of the itinerary.

But if the comments of the six students who interviewed Nazi chief George Lincoln Rockwell can be taken as criteria, the directors could have saved their fears.

Their over - all impression: They were impressed with Rockwell's bearing, manner of speech, and calm approach, but they were revolted by his ideas. And they saw through the errors in his presentation.

Hedged On Questions

Said Henry Hoffmeister: "He didn't act like a fanatic at all. For the first 10 minutes he seemed to make sense, but the more he talked, the more he contradicted himself. He continually hedged on questions."

"He used facts," Wayne Guenther said, "but he used them out of context."

The basic question put to Rockwell and his cohorts was the same posed to all the groups visited: What is loyalty in a democratic state.

A Rockwell lieutenant had a startling answer to give Hoffmeister. Loyalty, he said, is preserving America for white christians only. The swastika, he said, was their symbol of that ideal.

Entering Nazi headquarters was quite an experience for the youngsters. The first shock came when they noticed the youth of Rockwell's followers—many no older than the students themselves. Only one was dressed in the familiar Nazi garb.

The students entered a white, frame, two-story house, badly in need of paint, over the front of which was a huge black and white sign: "White man fight. Smash the black revolution."

Bust Of Hitler

Inside, the room was small and dimly lit by red bulbs. A large swastika loomed on the wall, flanked by a picture of Hitler on the left and George Washington on the right. A near-

(Continued On Page 36)

Behind Page 1

A Lower Bucks man will be honored for 50 years service to the community. Page 9.

• • •

Two choirs will join for a Sacred Christmas Concert. Page 14.

• • •

This firm is attracting national attention. Page 30.

INDEX

Amusements	26	Junior Reporter	44
Classified	40 - 43	Obituaries	31
COINWORD	12	Movies	26
Comics	44, 45	Sports	37-39
Editorials	6	Stocks	33
Editorial Features	7	TV Review	26
Jacoby On Bridge	26	TV Schedule	45
		Women's News	22-24

'Fullest Protection' Edgely Residents Are Assured

The Levittown Times

Delaware Valley's Greatest Home Newspaper

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1963 PAGE 3

Gov. To Name Bucks Judges On Monday

Gov. William W. Scranton on Monday is expected to name Paul R. Beckert and Edwin H. Satterthwaite to two county judgeships.

Beckert, Bucks County district attorney, and Satterthwaite, a Common Pleas judge, saw the governor in Harrisburg yesterday.

Satterthwaite will move over to the newly created Orphan's Court, and Beckert will fill the vacancy on the Common Pleas bench.

Customary Police Check

A customary check by state police into the backgrounds of both men has been completed, it is reported.

Police also investigated the past record of former district attorney Donald W. VanArtsdalen, the top choice of the county bar association when it voted for candidates for the Common Pleas bench.

Beckert has the blessing of county Republican leaders. He and Satterthwaite are expected to be among six to be named by Scranton.

Take Office Jan. 6

They will take office on Jan. 6. Beckert would step down as GOP county chairman as well as district attorney.

His successor for the chairmanship has already been selected — Myron Harris, Langhorne attorney.

Bucks County's four Common Pleas judges will meet to name Beckert's successor as district attorney after he is appointed.

It Won't Be

(Continued from Page 1)

ance. That was at 3 p.m.

Encircling the pool is a fence. But Michael an active child, is believed to have climbed the barricade.

Attempts by Bensalem police and the Bensalem Rescue Sqad to revive him were in vain.

Dead On Arrival

He was dead on arrival at Lower Bucks County Hospital.

The tragedy was a macabre similarity to the drowning of Michael's twin cousins in Langenfelder Lake, Bath Road, Bristol Township, 10 months ago. The victims were the sons of Joseph Graziosa of Bristol Terrace, the brother of young Michael's father.

Investigating the drowning yesterday were Police Chief William F. Riempp, Sgt. George Campbell and Officer Alex Mocknatch.

Museum Attracts 3,000 Visitors

An estimated 3,000 persons turned out last night at the Mercer Museum in Doylestown for the Bucks County Historical Society's second annual open house.

Adults downed some 120 gallons of cider while children exhausted a supply of lollipops. Highlighting the affair was a Yule log-burning ceremony on the museum grounds.

On display were antique handmade toys made of wood and cast iron. They were placed under Christmas trees decorated with lollipops.

The junior and senior choirs of Doylestown Presbyterian Church provided Christmas music.

University President Says

Penn State Campus Here? No Plans Now

By DAN STUDEBAKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Has Penn State even tentative plans to establish a campus in Bucks County?

The answer, which came from the university's president, Dr. Eric A. Walker last night, seemed to be no.

Said Dr. Walker, answering the question at a Penn State alumni meeting at Somerton Springs Country Club, Lower Southampton:

14 Campuses

"We already have 14 commonwealth campuses, one of them in Montgomery County and other universities in this area aren't anxious for Penn State to stick its nose in. If a responsible group (from Bucks) invites us in, however, and if our conditions are met, I'd certainly go to Harrisburg to talk to the state legislature about it."

Dr. Walker said two of the conditions are: the area wishing Penn State to locate must turn over a 25-acre site to the university and must provide money for buildings.

70 Attend

Dr. Walker reported to the 70 alumni on hand that the university has a definite commitment to establish a campus in the Harrisburg area. Classes at a center in King of Prussia are starting in March, he said.

The university is also looking into the possibility of establishing campuses in the Pittsburgh, and Wilkes-Barre and Scranton areas, he reported.

He added that commonwealth campuses — university teaching centers away from the main campus at University Park — will be the university's fastest growing area in the next 10 years. He said he expects these campuses to accommodate 10,000 students by 1973. At present there are about 4,200 students.

Speaking of the university's associate or two-year program for engineering assistants, Dr. Walker said the program has been so successful that Penn State may extend such training into other fields.

These students are awarded associate degrees upon completion of a two-year course. It enables them to assist "full-blown" engineers. Starting salaries for graduates are in the $400 a month range, he said.

Discussing the past, present and future growth of Penn State, Dr. Walker mentioned a recent $50 million gift from the Hershey Foundation, which he described as the largest single gift ever given to a university.

Health Field

This money may be used for the university's expansion into the health field, he said. Possibilities include a medical school, pharmacy school, school of nursing and medical research facilities. Experts have been called in to lay tentative plans, according to Dr. Walker.

A law school is another possibility, he said, but these plans have not advanced beyond the discussion stage.

Bucks Gets

(Continued from Page 1)

Ebbs, 35, of 1304 Susan Ave., Croydon.

Both were taken to Holy Redeemer Hospital, Huntingdon Valley, by the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad where they were being examined.

Chest Pains, Lacerations

Dickie complained of chest pains, while the Ebbs woman sustained lacerations of the scalp.

Upper Southampton police said the accident occurred at 7:56 a.m. when Dickie was unable to bring his car to a stop as it rode downhill. The car collided head-on with the Ebbs car.

Officer Robert Ahn estimated damage at about $950 to the Dickie car and $500 to the Ebbs car.

All schools, with the exception fo a few county - operated and private schools, were open as usual. Classes at schools in the Neshaminy and Centennial districts opened an hour late.

Up To 33

From this morning's low of 27 degrees, the mercury rose rapidly to 33 degrees at 11 a.m., causing the snow to turn to rain. The rain is expected to end by mid afternoon.

Overnight temperatures in the mid 20s are expected to create icy conditions on the roads, possibly giving motorists more hazardous driving headaches tomorrow morning.

A blanket of new snow, ranging in depth from nine inches in western sections to about an inch in eastern portions, covered Pennsylvania today.

Driving was reported hazardous throughout the state as the storm moved into the western portion during the night and spread eastward. The storm brought the season's first measureable snowfall to Southeastern Pennsylvania.

Western Pennsylvania was under a heavy snow warning with northern sections expected to get from 1 to 4 inches of new snow today. Southwestern areas were alerted to expect light snow or rain with light freezing rain later today when temperatures begin to drop.

10 Inches at DuBois

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh reported 10 inches of new snow at DuBois, 8 inches at Philipsburg and 9 inches at Bradford. Pittsburgh recorded 3 inches of new snow and Harrisburg and Philadelphia about 2 inches each. Erie reported 3 inches of new snow.

House Studies College Plan

HARRISBURG (UPI)—Pennsylvania labor leader Harry Boyer today described Gov. William W. Scranton's program to revise the state's unemployment compensation set-up as "a bad program...predicated on a series of myths."

Boyer, state president of the AFL-CIO, told a joint legislative committee holding public hearings on the unemployment compensation problem that the Scranton administration program "violates the basic tenets of insurance concepts and is predicated upon many fallacies."

Scranton's program failed to draw enough support during the regular session of the General Assembly.

Boyer charged the administration with giving "lip service" to the solvency of the Unemployment Compensation Fund while its real concern was attempting to "reduce the tax burdens for employers — but only for a favored few."

Friends To Host 2 Pakistanis

The Friends Service Association, Fallsington, will host two Pakistani "walkers" tomorrow night who are on their way to see President Johnson.

They'll speak at a forum at 8 p.m., then spend the night before continuing their walk which will take them Saturday to Philadelphia.

So far the two have logged 7,000 foot-weary miles, spreading the word for peace, disarmament, and the nuclear treaty. They've been to Russia, and to France where they were arrested and shipped out. Authorities bundled them off to England where their reception was reported favorable.

Won't 'Sing' For A While

Young Frank Sinatra Jr., released by kidnapers yesterday after his famous father paid $240,000 ransom, is shown in West Los Angeles with his sister, Tina (left) and mother, Nancy Sinatra, at a five-minute news conference in the driveway of his mother's home. Frank Jr., who said he went without sleep for three days admitted that "I was scared" during his ordeal. He told, newsmen that he was "not at liberty to make any statements" at this time, because he hadn't yet had a chance to talk with authorities. (UPI Telephoto)

FBI Checking Motorists For Clues In Sinatra Case

WEST LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Federal agents organized a predawn patrol of the San Fernando Valley today, stopping residents for identification and demanding to know their whereabouts the night Frank Sinatra Jr. was ransomed.

The unusual activity caused widespread speculation that the kidnapers might be hiding out in the two square mile residential area of Canoga Park.

Citizens Alarmed

Citizens became alarmed when they saw the same cars cruising up and down the quiet residential streets. Police in Van Nuys and West Valley received numerous calls about prowlers, some citizens asked if Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were in the area.

One caller said men identifying themselves as FBI agents were making a door-to-door search.

Sgt. Edward Baker of the West Valley police division investigated. Most of the calls came from residents in Canoga Park and Chatsworth. Baker said the men idefinitely were Federal agents, but would not elaborate.

"Where Were You"

Mary Margaret Dyatt, 19, was followed from a Reseda Park shopping center and then stopped by agents who asked to see her identification.

Mrs. James Dyatt, the girl's mother, said the agent asked "Where were you Tuesday night?"

That was the night 19-year-old Sinatra was freed when his father paid a randsom of almost a quarter million dollars.

The money was dropped off near the Veterans Administration Hospital, not far from the home of young Sinatra's mother.

FBI Mum

The FBI refused to comment on progress or status of the investigation. Today they were expected to meet with the young singer who was helping celebrate his father's birthday.

Attempts to track down the kidnapers were wrapped in secrecy. Agents would not say whether they were looking for amateurs or a professional gang. One agent replied to questions that "I assure you that if we have anything we will call you."

Sinatra Jr. was kidnaped Sunday night from a motel room at a Lake Tahoe Spa on the California-Nevada border. The youth was taken from his room only minutes before he was to have appeared at a night club with the Tommy Dorsey orchestra, the same band that gave his famous father his big start.

Pays $240,000

The elder Sinatra paid a cash ransom of $240,000 to secure the release of his son.

"We still have some kidnapers to catch," was about all any FBI agent would say.

Investigation Continues

The FBI would say only that the investigation was continuing and no arrests had been made that had any particular connection with the case.

Frank Jr. was picked up early Wednesday by a private Bel-Air patrol car after his father had paid $240,000 in cash to the abductors and then failed to find his son at the appointed place.

Frank Sr. returned empty handed, only to be followed a few minutes later by the patrolman with Frank Jr. hidden in the trunk of the patrol car. The youth was hidden to escape the notice of dozens of newsmen who had been waiting throughout the chilly night outside the secluded hilltop home of his mother, Mrs. Nancy Sinatra.

It wasn't the younger Sinatra's first ride in the trunk of a car. He said he spent hours there in his ride here from the motel where he was kidnaped.

"I was scared," he admitted, but added that now he felt "just fine" and was ready to return to complete the nightclub engengement.

Made No Statements

Young Sinatra said at a brief news conference outside his mother's fashionable Bel - Air home that he was "not at liberty to make any statements" regarding his kidnap.

Sinatra himself was in the car that dropped a bag containing the $240,000 in small denominations near the U.S. Veterans Hospital not far from Mrs. Sinatra's home. He had flown here from Reno, Nev., after the kidnapers in one of eight telephone calls told him to get the money ready and go to the home of the boy's mother, Sinatra's first wife. Once there they gave him further instructions by telephone.

The FBI indicated it was familiary with all steps of the negotiations begun by Sinatra Monday after he received the first call in Nevada.

Births

Lower Bucks County Hospital

Dec. 10

Mr. and Mrs. John McCarty, 23 Cardinal Road, Levittown, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Segraves, 63 Fruitree Road, Levittown, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mockler, 17 Idolstone Road, Levittown, girl.

Dec. 11

Mr. and Mrs. William O'Donnell, 4824 Sunrise Ave., Cornwells Heights, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pickel, 29 Cable Road, Levittown, boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Majersky, 48 Blue Spruce Lane, Levittown, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carmasino, 2107 Wilson Ave., Bristol, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rosetty, 19 Summer Lane, Levittown, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. John McGuigan, 374 Blue Ridge Drive, Levittown boy.

Assassination Book A Prized Possession

Looking for a cherished gift for your family or your friend? Then fill in the order blank below for the United Press International - American Heritage book on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The 144-page book is scheduled to be published the first week in January. To reserve your copy, which will be sent out by the Courier-Times shortly after publication, fill out the order blank.

"Four Days"
Courier-Times
Route 13
Levittown, Pa., 19058

Enclosed (Check or Money Order) for $.....

Mail ..... copies at $2.00 each

"FOUR DAYS—THE HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE DEATH OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY" by
United Press International - American Heritage

NAME .....

ADDRESS .....

CITY ..... STATE ..... ZIP CODE.....

(Please Print — Do not send cash)

Make checks or money orders payable to Courier-Times

Going in Circles

By Roger Kohn

A few days ago, a Lower Bucks grandmother received a telephone call from President Lyndon B. Johnson.

And the new President has also been in touch with a six-year-old living in Bristol.

On Nov. 23, Doreen Carleton, 246 Roosevelt St., wrote to President Johnson to wish him luck.

On Saturday, Doreen, a first grader at Jefferson Ave., Elementary School, Bristol, received a reply signed by the President's secretary, Juanita D. Roberts. It said:

"Dear Doreen, President Johnson asked me to thank you for the kind letter you sent him during the hours of sorrow after the death of our late President.

"He will cherish your friendliness and your prayers as he assumes his new responsibilities."

Doreen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Carleton.

* * *

A lot of people have complimented Bristol Police Sgt. Michael Manto and Officer Joseph Mangiaracina on their quick action in the fire on Pine St. a few weeks ago.

Councilman William Bolton said at Monday's Borough Council meeting that "they should be commended for their alertness in getting the families out and giving the alarm."

The two policemen spotted the fire in the early hours of the morning, and probably saved the lives of the families in the two homes next to the blazing house by getting them out of bed.

Radio Moscow Chides Sinatra

MOSCOW (UPI) — Radio Moscow today breezily told its Russian listeners about the kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr. in a program called "This Is How Business Is Done In America."

Not even offers of help from Attorney General Robert Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund Brown were of avail against the gangsters, the radio said. "Only after the suitcase with $240,000 had been left at the spot named by the gangsters was Sinatra Jr. freed."

Radio Moscow said "Frank Sinatra, the well known U.S. variety singer and one of the most flourishing 'stars' of Hollywood, has knocked together quite a decent income by singing sentimental songs and acting parts of dashing Americans. But his capital has now dropped by $240,000."

Guards Patrol Site Of Dynamite Blasts

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Edgely residents have been given full assurances they will be protected from recurrences of "bombings" which shook both them and their homes a week ago.

Three families, who live on Wood Ave. directly opposite where four dynamite explosions damaged construction equipment shortly after midnight last Friday, appealed to the Bristol Township Commissioners last night.

At first, they demanded the commissioners, remove Alconn Utilities, Inc., from its storage site, about 100 yards from their homes. However, the township solicitor, William J. Carlin, told them the township could in no way force the contractor to leave.

Main Contractor

The Alconn firm is the main contractor for the $1,282,000 sewer project in Edgely and Landreth Manor. Four pieces of heavy equipment were damaged in last week's explosions, deliberately set by what police described an "explosive expert."

Police Chief John R. Stewart told the residents four men, from each of the department's three squads, have been assigned to patrol the area. Alconn has also hired a detective agency to supply armed guards around the clock.

Today, Stewart and Commissioners Charles Worthington and Harry Fawkes were to meet with Ralph Cestone, owner of the construction firm, in attempt to have the trucks and other equipment moved further back from Wood Ave. The equipment already has been moved back 100 feet.

To Have Protection

Fawkes told the residents "we will do everything in power to see that you get full protection."

The residents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone of 2220 Wood Ave., Mr. and Mrs. Julio Caucci of 2218 Wood Ave. and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Crescenzi of 2216 Wood Ave., also told the commissioners they want the ground re-zoned from M-1 (manufacturing) to residential after Alconn moves out.

All six residents showed grave concern for their lives and the lives of their children.

"We're not being melodramatic," Mrs. Caucci remarked. "We're scared."

Judge OKs Costs For Addition

In a brief one and a half-page opinion, Bucks County Judge Lawrence A. Monroe today approved construction costs for an addition to the county home for the aged at Neshaminy Manor.

Judge Monroe said a need exists for the 240-bed nursing facility because the "present facilities are inadequate for now and the forseeable future."

The judge cited the Nov. 21 hearing on an injunction by two taxpayers to block construction of the home. He refused the injunction.

Paves Way

The ruling apparently will pave the way for the board of commissioners to award construction contracts. Chairman Edward B. Boyer has called another bedside meeting tomorrow to extend the contract deadline for another 30 days. But with the judge's approval, Boyer and Commissioner Adolph A. Andrews may award the contracts tomorrow.

Boyer is undergoing treatment in Lower Bucks County Hospital for a heart condition.

In approving the costs — $2,346,548 — Judge Monroe said a bond issue can be lawfully financed by the county institution district without exceeding its debt limitations.

"The proposed project is a lawful and proper one for the district," Judge Monroe said. His opinion in effect overrules the equity suit brought by John F. Mason, Doylestown Borough Council president; and Wells H. Denney, Doylestown Township supervisor, were seeking an injunction.

The board of commissioners have until Sunday to award contracts to the five lowest responsivle bidders.

Boyer has been holding bedside meetings because he wants the project to go through before he leaves office Jan. 6. The third commissioner, John J. Bodley, is opposed to the structure on the grounds that it is "too costly."

The two new commissioners, Joseph O. Canby and Walter Farley Jr., who will comprise next year's board with Bodley, favor a smaller facility.

U.S. Closing

(Continued from Page 1)

ever, he said half of those listed would be eliminated and the other half would be "very substantially reduced — to all practical purposes eliminated."

Total savings in his base reduction program started in 1961 now amount to 70,000 jobs and $442 million a year, he said. He estimated that another $125 to $150 million a year can be saved by this method.

The secretary said he will freeze employment at other defense installations to make jobs available for those being cut from the payroll.

"Every employe whose job is eliminated will be offered another job opportunity," he said. "If the new job requires a move, the expense in the case of career employes and their families will be borne by the government."

His estimates indicated that approximately 35,000 government employes will be moved to other jobs. He said the Defense Department will provide retraining programs for about 5 per cent who would otherwise be unemployable.

Approximately 20 per cent of the employes losing jobs are expected to go voluntarily into private industry or other careers.

Peace Travelers Slated To Talk

The World Affairs Forum of Friends Service Association will hold its first session at 8 tomorrow night, at the association's headquarters on Newportville Road in Fallsington.

Satish Kumar and Prabhakar Menon, two young Ghandian workers from Pakistan, will speak on their "International Peace March." They have traveled 7,000 miles through 12 countries campaigning for unilateral and total disarmament.

In Russia they met with the chairman of the Union of the Supreme Soviets at the Kremlin.

In France, they were arrested and deported to England. The British Broadcasting System broadcast their message in five languages and was instrumental in arranging for their passage to the U.S.

Southampton

(Continued from Page 1)

about 2 p.m., according to a plumber, John Goss, of Warminster — the only other worker at the scene.

Goss said he saw the walls beginning to crumble as Rogers was on his knees and yelled, frantically, he said, "Get out of the ditch!"

But Rogers never heard him. He was knocked flat instantly and covered with three feet of dirt, police said later.

A neighbor summoned help and Ralph French, another employe for Harding Bros., rushed from a job on the other side of town — two miles away. French immediately began helping the plumber dig and must have dug furiously. He said last night, "My fingers are all bleeding now — the finger nails have been torn off. Of course you don't think about that at a time like that."

Uncover Body

Walter Stevens, a Southampton policeman arrived and also helped dig and about five minutes later, the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad arrived and pitched in. It was about 2:45 then, Stevens said.

A few minutes later, Rogers was uncovered. "We found his hat first," French said, "and then we uncovered his face. As soon as I uncovered his face I knew he was gone. I'm 52 years old and this is the worst I've felt since I lost my mother when I was 22."

The rescue squad gave Rogers oxygen from a resuscitator, but it was too late. The frantic efforts of the workmen had been in vain.

Rodgers was the father of four girls and two boys. They are Linda, 10; Robert, 9; Charlene, 8; Karen, 7; Robin, 5; and Michael, 4.

Weather

FORECAST: Rain today, ending by mid-afternoon; high about 40. Fair tonight, low in mid 20s. Tomorrow, partly cloudy, followed by much colder tomorrow night and Saturday; high tomorrow in the 40s.

High yesterday: 37.
Low yesterday: 29.
Low this morning: 27.

Sunset tonight: 4:33 p.m.
Sunrise tomorrow: 7:13 a.m.
Sunset tomorrow: 4:34 p.m.

Drummer Girl Gives Concert For Trip Abroad

By BEN McELVEEN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Ever hear a percussionist in a concert?

Last night, Cheryl Basenko, a 15-year-old 11th grade drummer at Pennsbury High School, gave just such a concert at the new Eleanor Roosevelt School, Falls Township.

But Cheryl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Basenko, has been setting records playing the drums since way back. She comes from practically a whole family of musicians.

"Everybody in the family is musical, except me," said her mother, Mrs. Basenko. "Instead, I am the strongest supporter and backer of the rest."

Cheryl's father, Nicholas, a member of the Trenton local for musicians, is a professional musician, who plays the accordion and percussions. He has his own band and has played throughout this area. Cheryl's sister, Vicki, 12, plays the oboe and accordion.

Cheryl, who has been studying music since she was eight, started out taking the accordion and then went into the percussion field — studying drums, vibes, tympani and other mallet-playing instruments.

Needs Funds, Backing

Her present aim is to try to raise enough funds, and obtain enough support, to go on a concert tour of Europe next summer with the School Band of America, of which she has been asked to participate.

The concert last night was sponsored by the Pennsbury Heights Civic Association, which will pay some of her bill. Cheryl lives at 501 Curtis Drive, Pennsbury Heights.

"I need a total of about $900," she said, "and so I am ready and willing to give concerts for various groups and organizations most any where who might back my trip."

Soon Will Be 16

Cheryl, comparatively young to perform in concert anywhere, will be 16 on Dec. 29.

Just how was she selected for the tour?

Cheryl said she entered a recorded tape of her work in the mid-East All-Star High School Band contest and won. She was selected to perform with the band when it gave a concert last spring in Pittsburgh.

From there, she was requested to try out for the School Band of America, directed by Edward Harm and headquartered in Bloomington, Ind. She was selected to go on one of two planned trips next June and July and July and August.

Picked To Play

Cheryl was selected for the band over many other students from throughout America who competed. Cheryl plays drums with the Pennsbury High Band, with the concert band and with the Falcon Marching Band.

She has studied with her father, with Don Smith at Pennsbury High and with Ira Dalrymple of Trenton on vibes and tympani.

Cheryl is a member of the Mercer Symphonic Training Orchestra, and recently took part in their first fall concert at the War Memorial building in Trenton. She is also a member of the Tri-County Band in Feasterville and has performed all over the county and state.

She's A Rainbow Girl

The young musician, a member of First Presbyterian Church, Morrisville, is a member of the Rainbow Girls.

In last night's concert, Cheryl performed with her father on accordion and Earl Albright, another professional musician, on saxophone. They played several popular songs on the trap or drum set.

CHERYL BASENKO

New RR Span In The Works In Morrisville

A new railroad span will replace the present damaged one at S. Pennsylvania and Philadelphia Aves. in Morrisville, Pennsylvania Railroad officials said today.

The railroad bridge was damaged on Monday when seven cars derailed at noon. The PRR spokesman said today the firm plans to replace it.

Temporary repairs have been made to the bridge, the spokesman said. Engineers already are at work designing a new bridge.

Expresses Appreciation

George C. Vaughan, regional manager of the firm in New York, expressed appreciation for permission of Morrisville officials to allow the railroad to place temporary supports in the middle of the street until permanent repairs are made.

The spokesman said the wreck on Monday was due to a broken truck bolster on a hopper car, which caused the train loaded with iron ore to derail when it hit the switches at the bridge.

Bochm Club To Visit Byberry

Members of the Future Nurses of America club at Charles H. Boehm High School in Lower Makefield will visit Byberry State Hospital tomorrow, Dec. 13.

Under the direction of the school nurse, Mrs. Abigail Neil, the members of the club hope to learn about the qualifications and the opportunities in the field of nursing. Most student nurses spend approximately three months of their internship at Byberry. The Boehm students plan to interview some nurses on their trip to learn about life as a student nurse and to learn of the problems to be faced in an institution such as Byberry.

The club meets each week with a planned program relating to the field of nursing. Recent programs included visits by nurses, speakers on Pediatrics, and speakers in other specialized areas.

There are approximately 36 members in the club. The officers are: president, Charlene Cappola; vice president, Jean Simonson; secretary, Tony Babuschak; treasurer, Nancy Dilliplane. Charles H. Boehm High School is a member of the Pennsbury Schools.

Morrisville Yardley Makefield

Students Talk To Nazi

'Smooth Talker, Ideas Revolting'

(Continued from Page 1)

by table was laden with Nazi literature. Nazi banners were draped about. A small table contained a bust of Hitler.

Pointing to the swastika, Rockwell said Nazi symbolism was merely a publicity device.

"We are making use of Madison Ave. techniques," Rockwell said, "taught us by the Jews."

The Nazis were quiet and respectful. They searched the visitors for weapons, a necessary precaution, they said, since Rockwell has been shot at several times.

His Thoughts

Some samples of Rockwell's thinking:

He would be elected governor of Virginia in 1966;

The assassination of President Kennedy was part of an international Communist conspiracy;

The late President, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, and Chief Justice Warren, he labeled "pro-Red." He despised them all, he said, but claimed he would lay down his life to protect them since they were leaders of government;

He was appalled by the lack of security that permitted the assassination. He had written a letter to Warren urging him to take precautions since many people were out to kill Warren;

Labor leaders were all gangsters;

All convicted Communists should be put to death.

"Utterly Revolted"

How dangerous were these views to the visitors? Tim Smith summed up the attitude of the students: "He was a smooth talker, but I was utterly revolted by his ideas."

Said group leader Andy Holton: "Rockwell was a great orator, but his arguments were supported by facts which were out of context."

The students taped the hour-and-a-half interview for playback in class. Later all the students in Knippel's 12th grade Problems of American Democracy class will write essays.

Attend Hearing

In the morning, three students attended a hearing before the Supreme Court in a suit brought by Rockwell claiming he had been deprived of his civil rights in a Southern city. He had been arrested while passing out his literature.

Rockwell was defended by the American Civil Liberties Union, one of whose members was later interviewed by the students.

He told them the ACLU, while abhorring Rockwell's ideals, was defending his rights as an American citizen. He said the ACLU did not attempt to define Americanism — a direct contrast to Rockwell's assertions. He said the ACLU would have defended Lee Oswald — to make sure his rights were guaranteed, not to justify his action.

Impressed

After the interview, Ralph Rhodes said, "I was very impressed. Mr. Speiser (the spokesman for the ACLU) said he couldn't define loyalty because it is an attitude, not an action. This seemed very reasonable. I feel his group is upholding the rights set forth in the Constitution. No matter how bad a crime may be, the accused should have a chance to defend himself."

Other groups interviewed members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American Legion, Sons of the American Revolution, House Un-American Affairs Committee, the FBI, and the AFL-CIO.

Evaluating the day-long trip, Rhodes said, "I learned more in a day than through reading an entire book. A direct experience is worth so much more."

First Hand Information

According to Guenther: "We got something we couldn't get from a text book — first hand information. It didn't come through gossip or rumor. We got answers to our own questions."

Another youngster told Knippel he felt the exposures to other ideas strengthened the students' loyalty rather than weakened it.

A sidelight of the trip included a visit to the grace of President Kennedy and to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. At the latter, the youngsters watched a changing of the guard.

What did Knippel have to say?

More Tolerant

"A lot of the youngsters had pat ideas. I feel now they'll be more tolerant of the opinions of others. That's more in keeping with the ideals along which our country was founded. Our forefathers never held pat ideas on what constitutes loyalty."

Church Sponsor Turkey Dinner

Rev. Robert C. Pike, pastor of the Methodist Church of Fairless Hills, and Mrs. Harry Wilson, help children from the Mercer Street Friends Center, Trenton, with their dinner during a recent Christmas party. About 40 children from the center were greeted by boys and girls of the church mission school. The turkey dinner was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. James Trease. Mrs. Paul Kyler, chairman of the mission school, and Mrs. Richard Downing, assistant chairman, were in charge of the event.

Morrisville High Wins $3,000 Grant

Grants totaling $3,000 each have been won by Morrisville High School and William H. Davis Elementary School, Southampton, in a recent contest sponsored by the 3-M Company, Trenton.

The grants, which will consist of audio-visual aids equipment, were announced after a contest was conducted by the Thermofax Division of the 3-M Company.

The awards are expected to be presented at a special affair during January. The equipment includes 11 over-head projectors, duplicating machines and supplies.

200 Schools

Some 200 schools took part in the contest in which each school submitted plans on what it would do in the event it won the equipment.

A committee screened the written applications submitted from an eight-county area, and The committee of Louis Bender, assistant Bucks County supt. of Schools; Dr. Lawrence Stratton, assistant dean to Rutgers graduate school; William H. King, audio-visual aids coordinator of the N.J. Dept. of Education; Frederic Messina, mayor of Shrewsbury, N.J. and Monsignor Thomas Frain, superintendent of parochial schools in Trenton.

The national screening committee decided the final winners of the grants at a convention held recently in Biscayne Bay, Fla.

1st Services At New Church

The first church services in the new Morrisville Methodist Church at Maple and Taft Aves. will be conducted at 8:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Sunday.

The congregation has been using the fellowship hall for services since August, when it moved from the old building on N. Pennsylvania Ave.

Final settlement between the building committee and the architect will be made tomorrow on the $321,000 new church building.

The congregation moved from its old church site on July 28 after selling it to the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Dr. Clarence F. Carter, pastor, will have as his sermon topic on Sunday, "No Vacancy." He will preach at both services.

Jaycees Plan To Play Santa

The Yardley-Lower Makefield Jaycees will conduct a Christmas shopping tour for underprivileged children on Saturday, Dec. 21.

Kenneth J. Andrews announced today the children will meet at noon at the Yardley Community Center, S. Main St., and then go to the Yardley 5 & 10 Store, which is just up the street, to buy presents for their families.

Andrews said they will then return to the center to wrap their presents and have refreshments. The tour and party should end by 2 p.m. Alan Ahrens is Jaycee president.

Polaris Missile Fails Again

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—An advanced version of the Navy's Polaris missile failed Wednesday night for the second straight time from a launching aboard a laboratory ship at sea.

The Polaris A3 rocket thundered from the USS Observation Island into the darkness off the Florida coast at 8 p.m. EST. It was destroyed by a range safety officer 53 seconds later when the rocket veered off course because of a malfunction in its first stage.

Just two weeks earlier, a similar Polaris was blown up 52 seconds after being launched from a tube on the deck of the ship.

The powerful A3 had run up 13 straight success at one period. It has been fired twice from a submerged submarine and both shots were successful.

This was the seventh test of the new Polaris model aboard the Observation Island. Four were successes.

Boy Scouts Collect Stamps

Boy Scout Troop 85, sponsored by the Sanford-Diletto American Legion Post 433 of Morrisville, is conducting a trading stamp drive to aid the troop in purchasing new equipment.

Charles Winkleman, assistant scoutmaster, said anybody with trading stamps, S&H green stamps or any other type stamps is asked to donate them to the troop.

The troop plans to use the stamps to purchase much-needed camping equipment. "Our troop is short on purchasing power," he said, "but out in front in good training power for youthful boys."

Persons interested in donating unused stamps are requested to contact Winkleman at 561 Carlisle Drive, Morrisville, or by calling him at CY 5-1620, he said.

New Library Schedule Set

A new schedule for the holidays for the Morrisville Free Public Library has been established, it was announced today by President Mrs. Henry B. Smith.

The library in the Summereat building will be closed on Christmas Day and New Years Day but will remain open during the rest of the holidays. The library will be open Dec. 23 and Dec. 29, she said. The hours are 7:30 to 9 p.m.

155 Added

A report was made at the recent library board meeting that a total of 155 new names have been added to the roster, including nine out-of-towners, since the library moved to its present location.

There are 20 new children's books added to the shelves, including beginners Latin, Spanish, French and German. There are eight new mystery books and two adult books, "The Battle of the Villa Fiorita" and "The Venetian Affair."

There are also two new sets of encyclopedias. One is a three-volume set and the other is a 20-volume set on science for young people, according to Mrs. John Taylor.

Union Fire Co. Ladies Elect

New officers were elected last night at a meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Union Fire Co. of Morrisville.

They are: President, Mrs. Eva Allshouse; vice president, Mrs. Lena Stedman; secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Laubach; financial secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Rose; treasurer, Mrs. Selina Lewis, and trustees, Mrs. Alma Sawyer, Mrs. Emma Laypo and Mrs. Joyce Peterson.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Anne Wolf and Mrs. Anna Bacowsky.

Cars Collide In Makefield

Two cars collided last night in Lower Makefield and caused an estimated total of $300 damage to the cars.

Lower Makefield police identified the drivers as Mary Ann Peart, 17, of 47 N. Homestead Drive, Lower Makefield, and Michael Daverback, 42, of 94 Juniper Drive, Levittown. Neither driver was injured.

The Peart car had an estimated $100 in damages and the Daverback car $200, police said. Patrolman Richard Ellis reported the accident occurred at 10:22 p.m. on Makefield Road at N. Homestead Drive.

Two passengers in the Daverback car also escaped injury. They were Marie Daverback, of 94 Juniper Drive, Levittown, and Frank Joyce of 23 Fallen Rock Road, Levittown.

Truck Hits Car, Two Women Die

HIGHTSTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—Two Trenton women were killed and another woman seriously injured last night when their car was hit broadside by a tractor trailer near here.

Pronounced dead at the scene were the driver of the car, Dorothy M. Reihl, 27, 7 Cumberland Rd., and Ruth A. Sylvester, 51, 43 Miry Brook Way.

School Site Survey OKd In Makefield

A survey will be made of the new school property on Edgewood Road near the Lower Makefield Municipal Building, the Lower Makefield School Board has decided.

The board appointed Harry H. Lee Jr. of Morrisville to survey the 58 acres. The board had recently authorized the purchase of this Windischman property for $100,000 as a future school site.

In other matters, the board appointed school board member John Bodnarik Jr. as its representative to the joint committee of the Bucks County Technical School Board for 1964, and named director Mrs. W. McKendree Scott to the executive committee of the Bucks County School Directors Association for 1964.

The school board also discussed hiring an auditor to audit the school district's accounts, and requested a list of interested auditors seeking the work to be submitted at next month's meeting.

Paradise Colder Than Hell

PARADISE, Mich., (UPI) — Paradise was colder than Hell this morning.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the mercury dipped to a low of 16 in Paradise, Mich., the small Whitefish Bay community in the upper peninsula. One inch of snow fell there.

In the lower peninsula, Hell reported a low of 21 and nearly three inches of snow.

Christmas Play Slated For Two Performances

"The Christmas Fairy," a play for children in two acts, will be presented by the Knowles-Doyle Post Auxiliary 317, American Legion, Yardley, at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, at the post home, Yardley Road.

All children of auxiliary members have been invited to attend. The play is by Catherine Welsh of Yardley and it tells the story of a shoemaker who has a visit from a Christmas fairy and all his wishes are granted.

Mrs. Angela Bockin is in charge of the auxiliary program.

The same play will be presented at 11 a.m. on Dec. 21 sponsored by the LPRA. The play will be presented in the LPRA Community Building in the Levittown Shopping Center.

The LPRA program will be directed by Charles Rodgers. All children of members of the LPRA will be invited to attend.

The cast for the play includes Thomas Duffy, a Lower Makefield police corporal, who plays the shoemaker; Bob Brooks, a young artist; Jean Fay, who plays the shoemaker's daughter; and Barbara Bagot, the fairy.

Jaycees To Hear Guest Speaker

The Yardley - Makefield Junior Chamber of Commerce will hear guest speaker, Jack S. Ginter, an independent management consultant, at its dinner-meeting at 6:45 p.m. on Tuesday at the Yardley Inn.

Kenneth J. Andrews of the Jaycees said that Ginter will speak on "You and Your Place in Industry Today." Ginter holds degrees from Lafayette College and Rutgers and Temple Universities, and is a specialist in the field of personality appraisal. President Alan Ahrens will introduce the speaker.

The Angel Shop
FALLS SHOPPING CENTER
NEWPORTVILLE ROAD,
LEVITTOWN, PA.

3 Days Only
DEC. 12th, 13th, & 14th
20% OFF ON ALL PRAM-SUITS
Reg. $8.95 to $15.95
★ ONE AND 2 PIECE SUITS
★ SOME WITH HOODS ★ SOME WITH HATS
★ CHECKS ★ SOLIDS ★ TWO-TONES
★ SIZES — MED., LGE., X. LGE.
FREE Christmas-Boxed!
Trenton Trust Company QUICK-CHARGE
Open Daily & Saturday
9:30 A.M. to 9 P.M.

the Potter's Wheel
CRAFTS & SUPPLIES
CERAMICS, MOSAICS
COPPER ENAMELS & KILNS
CUSTOM FIRING
CERAMIC LESSONS
HAND MADE GIFT ITEMS
PHONE HY 3-4383

BENNETT'S Village Studio
ART GIFTS
For The Entire Family
• OIL PAINTING SETS
• WATER COLOR SETS
• PAINT BY NUMBERS
• PASTELS
• EASELS
• CRAYONS

35 South Main St., Yardley, Penna.